

What sets us apart from other freight transportation providers?

Dependability

Our on-time performance ratio is 99 percent. Once we accept a shipment, we deliver it—on time and at the agreed price. We never blindly accept freight. We try to provide customers with a worry-free experience.

Careful follow-through

We make all appointments and follow shipments from pickup to delivery. Thoroughness and attention to detail help us eliminate the unpleasant surprises many shippers experience with other providers.

Dedication to customer success

We learn about our customers' goals, the problems and opportunities they face, and what they and their customers want from us. Together we develop solutions that give our customers a competitive advantage in today's demanding marketplace.

FARMING COMPANY

Delivering Success One Load At A Time

Third-Party Logistics Solutions

Corbett Farming Company

Corbett Farming Company is a third-party logistics company headquartered in Wilmington, North Carolina. Since 1993 we have helped our customers thrive in an increasingly complex and ever-changing supply chain. Our goal is to provide customers with a higher return per dollar spent than any company in our industry.

Our corporate customers range in size from $5 million to over $5 billion in annual sales and include shippers of wood and paper products, fresh produce, processed foods, and bottled water. We also provide transportation services to the United States Department of Defense and the General Services Administration. Whatever the size of our customer, we provide the same attentive service and commitment to customer satisfaction.

Freight Transportation Services

We offer the following freight transportation services:

Truckload

- Dry van
- Temperature-controlled
- Flatbed

Rail intermodal

Container

We specialize in just-in-time and time-sensitive deliveries. Customers know that with our 99 percent on-time performance ratio, they can depend on us when time is of the essence.

Logistics Management Services

We believe that many shippers would benefit from additional expertise and professionalism in their logistics department. For them, outsourcing some or all of their logistical functions may be the best solution.

We offer a menu of logistics management services:

- Analysis of logistical requirements
- Identification by lane of optimal mode of transportation
- Selection and qualification of carriers
- Carrier rate negotiation and contract administration
- Management of freight movement, including
 - Tender of freight
 - Monitoring of service
 - Resolution of problems
- Freight bill audit and payment
- Claim management
- Carrier performance evaluation and reporting

Some shippers who outsource the movement of freight prefer to continue using their existing carrier base. We offer the flexibility of using our carriers, the customer's carriers, or a combination of the two.

Shippers who outsource logistical functions frequently realize significant savings, usually through optimized mode of transportation selection and improved rate structure. We can use our logistics experience and buying power to negotiate better rates than most shippers can for themselves.
